In a rapidly changing world, the art of disciple making seems to have become a lost art. True discipleship is not simply about converting people to a set of beliefs, but about equipping them to live as fully devoted followers of Christ.

'The Lost Art of Disciple Making' is a comprehensive guide that aims to empower you to rediscover the biblical principles and practical strategies for effective disciple making. This book will equip you to:

- Understand the biblical foundation and purpose of disciple making
- Identify and overcome the challenges to effective disciple making
- Develop a personalized plan for discipling others
- Guide disciples through the essential elements of spiritual growth

- Create a legacy of lasting impact by multiplying disciples

Biblical Foundation

The book begins by establishing the biblical foundation for disciple making. It explores the Great Commission in Matthew 28:19-20, where Jesus commands his followers to "go and make disciples of all nations." Drawing from Scripture, the author demonstrates that disciple making is not an optional activity but a core responsibility of every Christian.

The book also examines the role of Jesus as the ultimate disciple maker. Through his life and ministry, Jesus provides a model for effective disciple making. He intentionally invested in a small group of disciples, teaching them, mentoring them, and empowering them to continue his mission.

Overcoming Challenges

Disciple making is not without its challenges. The book acknowledges the obstacles that can hinder effective disciple making, such as:

- Lack of time and resources
- Fear of failure or rejection
- Competing priorities and distractions
- Cultural and societal barriers

The book provides practical strategies for overcoming these challenges and creating a conducive environment for disciple making.

Personalized Plan

The book emphasizes the importance of developing a personalized plan for discipling others. It encourages readers to consider their unique gifts, resources, and opportunities to create a strategy that aligns with their calling and ministry.

The book offers a step-by-step process for creating a personalized plan, including:

- Identifying the people you want to disciple
- Setting clear goals for discipleship
- Developing a curriculum or resources
- Scheduling regular meetings and activities
- Evaluating progress and making adjustments

Spiritual Growth

The book emphasizes that effective disciple making involves guiding disciples through the essential elements of spiritual growth. It covers topics such as:

- Understanding and applying Scripture
- Developing a personal prayer life
- Growing in faith and obedience
- Serving others and sharing the gospel
- Living in community and accountability

The book provides practical exercises and tools to help both mentors and disciples engage in meaningful spiritual growth.

Legacy of Impact

The ultimate goal of disciple making is to create a lasting legacy of impact. The book challenges readers to think beyond their own lifetime and consider how they can multiply disciples and empower others to continue the mission.

The book offers strategies for:

- Training disciples to be effective disciple makers
- Developing leadership and equipping disciples for ministry
- Establishing sustainable structures and systems for ongoing disciple making

'The Lost Art of Disciple Making' is an essential resource for anyone who wants to make a lasting impact on the lives of others. It provides a clear roadmap for rediscovering the biblical principles and practical strategies for effective disciple making.

Whether you are a seasoned mentor or a new believer eager to share your faith, this book will equip you to create a legacy of lasting impact by guiding others in their spiritual journey.
